

Career Opportunity: Production Supervisor

Our team is looking for a Production Supervisor to join us in a dynamic small aerospace company where you will work in a team environment on high-reliability aerospace hardware that makes a big difference to the United States and our allies. You must have experience leading teams that are producing high reliability, electrical and electromechanical assemblies for aerospace. You will report to the Director of Operations and will have an onsite work structure in Chatsworth, California.

The person in this role will need to be exceptionally dependable and have excellent engagement and communication skills.

Responsibilities:

- Responsible for overseeing daily operations of the electrical assembly department; Organize and prioritize workload and develop work instructions for fabrication and assembly of products.
- Assists in training assemblers or associates. Leads by example, to reinforce compliance with established processes and practices.
- Provide feedback to engineers on producibility and manufacturability.
- Attend weekly production meetings and accurately report on production work status.
- Determine staffing requirements for the assigned production area. Ensure that departmental productivity targets are met to meet customer requirements. Troubleshoot scheduling and material issues.
- Identify opportunities for continuous improvement activities – bring your best ideas forward.
- Willing to work overtime or extra hours as needed.

Requirements:

- 3 years of supervision experience. 5+ years of experience in aerospace manufacturing of cable harnesses, circuit boards, and mechanical assemblies.
- Soldering skills and experience in manufacturing cable assemblies (wire stripping, crimping, twisted pairing, etc). Ideally, you are trained and certified to IPC-J-STD-001 and IPC/WHMA-A-620
- Be familiar with production planning, scheduling, and workflow management, MS Office software.
- Must exhibit strong interpersonal skills, team building, and leadership characteristics (Bi-lingual Spanish is a plus).
- Able to coordinate and organize multiple responsibilities at the same time.

Job type: Full-time, salaried/exempt. US Citizenship is required.

In-Office job role: This job role is 100% on-site, in Chatsworth, CA – not remote.

Pay Range: $80,000-$125,000 per year. Relocation assistance may be available.

Benefits:

- 401(k) and 401(k) matching
- Medical, Dental, Vision insurance
- Flexible spending account
- Life insurance
- Long Term Disability
- Paid time off